

As President Trump signed a medical cost and quality transparency executive order yesterday, I was honored to be there to witness history in the making. President Trump and I agree that known pricing creates competition. And with competition, the consumer wins every time with lower prices. Quality ratings will come to our platform Q3. Medical cost transparency already exists for every self-insured entity. Give Pratter one day with a copy of the very medical bills paid, and tomorrow the real prices paid are searchable for the world to view in plain sight. Our flagship offering, the Pratter Report, itemizes cost drivers by test name.

As for medical providers, we name names. We show real pricing.
